As the name implies, Camille is a perfect complement to Liliana, with the same florals wrapping around the rim, with just a kiss of pattern in the center well.

The Blue Willow pattern dates to the 18th century and is quintessential English Pottery influenced by Asian design. While hundreds of versions have come out over the past 200+ years, there are core markings and characteristics that identify them as a genuine blue willow product, including:

- Two birds that are in flight
- A boat or a ship
- Three figures on a bridge
- Willow trees
- A latticework fence
- Chinese pine trees
- A pagoda

Homer Laughlin started producing Blue Willow Circa 1935-1964 for the retail market, meeting all criteria to be deemed authentic. It was later introduced into food service but waned in popularity over the years. With a resurgence of interest, we are proud to re-introduce this pattern and have taken liberties to offer it on a variety of shapes in the traditional blue, as well as green and rose colors.
